RESPONSIBILITY ON THE TEAM

As Senior Vice President of Development and Construction, Mark is responsible for all third-party development and construction management services. He also handles some specific facilities management and capital improvement projects for the Company's managed properties when specific expertise is required. Mark maintains daily contact with clients in development, construction and management details and works closely with the Company's land team to identify development and redevelopment opportunities.

CAREER SUMMARY

Mark spent six years as an architect in Alexandria, Virginia where he worked on a large variety of projects including retail centers, office parks and office building redevelopments. In 1994, his passion for real estate development and construction management led him to work for Gates Hudson and Associates (GHA) in Fairfax, Virginia where Mark concentrated in acquisitions, redevelopment and repositioning of existing commercial properties. He was also instrumental in forming several subsidiary companies in the businesses of construction management, general contracting, telecom management, and environmental and utility management. At GHA, Mark gained experience in all categories of environmental remediation, facilities management and property management. In 2002, he relocated his family back to Chapel Hill and took the position of Vice President of Graham Associates Ltd. Prior to the formation of Grubb & Ellis|Thomas Linderman Graham, Mark was responsible for the day-to-day operations of the company, including management, marketing, development and construction. Following the merger, Mark is able to focus on his true passion – development. Some of his most successful projects in North Carolina include Churton Grove Shopping Center, Arena Place Office Condominiums and the Arena Centre office building.
